The Main Bodies Approach Town From All Directions

TAKE OTHER TOWNS

Vellerous and Compogne Also Fall to the Yanks

By International News Service

PARIS, Jan. 16—The Ardennes communications center of Houffalize, former heart of the crushed German Belgen-Luxembourg bulge, was virtually back in American hands today following the entry of American patrols into the town during the night.

Supreme headquarters said that Houffalize could be considered virtually captured.

In the advance from north of Houffalize, the troops of the First Army approached along the Grandmenil-Houffalize road. Resistance at first was intense but then slackened when the Americans hammered to within a mile of the town. The patrols entered without opposition.

The main bodies of the First Army assault columns approached the town cautiously from two directions, with the 75th Division squeezing down on the Germans from the north.

Troops of the U. S. Third Army continued to meet heavy German resistance southwest of Houffalize but the 11th Armored Division was successful in clearing out the town of Vellerous, four miles southwest of Houffalize, after taking Compogne.

The Sixth Armored Division pushed ahead just short of Michamps, four and one-half miles northeast of Bastogne, while the 11th was astride the Bastogne-Houffalize road, moving a mile and one-half beyond Novilles, three and one-half miles southeast of Houffalize.

Increased artillery activity by the enemy was noted from around Wiltz west to Bastogne, indicating that Field Marshal Karl Gerd von Rundstedt intends to maintain the shoulders of the crushed salient until he gets as much as possible of his men and armor out of the area between St. Vith and Wiltz.

Boys and Girls Busy Knitting Soldiers' Afghans

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 16—Welders and riveters in a large industrial plant never worked harder—and certainly never for as little pay—as twenty-seven 8- and 9-year-old war-workers that you will find every Friday afternoon in Room 3 of the elementary school of the Doylestown public school.

It is not a noisy job for the 27 boys and girls, for about 150 can hear a pin drop, and the constant click of knitting needles.

This group of boys and girls are working on afghans to throw over the beds or wrap around the shoulders of a wounded or sick soldier at the Valley Forge General Hospital, Doylestown's closest contact with the front line trenches and fox-holes.

Each knitter is making five-inch squares and when about 150 are completed those squares are sewn or knitted together to make an all-wool, warm coverlet four feet by six.

There is no such thing as absenteeism among the war workers in Doylestown's Room 3-A. They are all reaching full speed ahead. Many of them, according to the teacher, Mrs. C. Herbert Haldeman, take their work home over week-ends.

The youngsters are working also under the supervision of the Doylestown chapter of the Red Cross.

Relief Program To Benefit Yugoslav Folk

DOYLESTOWN, Jan. 16—Marshal Tito and the gallant folks of Yugoslavia and what they did as their part to "make it hot for Hitler" are going to be remembered by Bucks county residents next Saturday evening, Jan. 20.

At that time, two Yugoslavians of international fame are coming to Bucks county, donating their services for a concert in the auditorium of the Doylestown High School, the admission to which will be $1.00, with every bit of the proceeds going to Yugoslav Relief.

The affair is being planned by Charles A. Carroll, of Solebury, chairman for the county.

The artists will be Zinka Milanov, dramatic soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, who sings "Aida" and "Verdi Requiem" with Arturo Toscanini, and Zlatko Balokovic, internationally known violinist who appears frequently in Carnegie Hall.

Every club and most of the churches in Bucks county, as well as the service organizations have placed their stamp of approval on the forthcoming concert, and are doing their part to pack the house.

UP-TO-PRESS-TIME WAR BULLETINS (By International News Service)

CHURCHILL REAFFIRMS UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER PRINCIPLE

London—Prime Minister Winston Churchill today reaffirmed without equivocation the unconditional surrender principle adopted by the United Nations during the Casablanca conference early in the war.

In the face of mounting criticism of this policy in the United States, Churchill stated flatly in the House of Commons that "I am not of the opinion that a demand for unconditional surrender is prolonging the war."

Churchill's defense of the policy announced jointly by himself and President Roosevelt followed a question by Rhys Davies, Labor member for Westhoughton, as to whether "these threats against the Axis powers... prolong the war."

"No sir, we do not take that view at all," Churchill replied. "The House would be overwhelmingly against us attempting to make peace by negotiations. Our allies would be firmly opposed to such a course."

At the same time, Churchill upheld the genuineness of the Atlantic Charter, declaring he agreed with President Roosevelt's statement of last December that the Charter's objectives "are just as valid today as they were in 1941."

WAR EFFORT VS. INSURANCE SCHEMING

There are times when President Roosevelt appears to have a positive genius for further mixing a bad mess.

His recent letter on insurance legislation now being considered by Congress is a case in point.

In this letter the President disclaims any wish to have the Federal government regulate insurance, blandly denies that such is the effect of the Supreme Court decision last June, accepts the need for some stop-gap legislation to meet the turmoil which has resulted—and then demands the sidetracking of the one constructive step which has been recommended to Congress as a means of solving the problem.

The facts of the matter are not complicated. Insurance grew to its present status as a ward of state government. Most states, including Pennsylvania, have had large departments devoted exclusively to the tasks of so regulating the insurance firms that policy holders got approximately what they had been promised, and that the assets and reserves of the companies were safeguarded.

If the New Dealers could point to one piece of business as successful as the state regulation of insurance, they would be almost hysterical with joy.

Fraud, deception and insolvencies in insurance under state control hovered around the zero point.

Last June a persistent Department of Justice, part of

Today's Quiet Moment

By John Wesley Maybury
Minister, Church of the Nazarene

We approach Thee in prayer, God our Creator, with thankful and contrite hearts. Thou who hath provided reconciliation and redemption thru faith in the efficacy of Jesus' blood, shed on Calvary for whosoever will. As Jesus queried the impotent man, "Wilt thou be made whole?" this same hope of completeness in Him is held forth today. Help many weary hearts submit and cast their burden of guilt upon Thee, O Lord. Grant divine wisdom to guide our nation's leaders. Hover over absent loved ones on far flung battle areas. Hasten cessation of war and return peace, in the name of our Redeemer, Amen.

JOCKEY CLUB ISSUES RACING CALENDAR DESPITE THE BAN

Burg-El-Arab Declared The Third Best Horse By Expert

BUSHER IS TOP FILLY

Hirsch Jacobs Trained The Most Winners—117 In All

By Pat Robinson

(N. S. Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Racing fans, rally round . . . so we can punch the bag a little . . . and shed a few tears on each other's dandruff . . . over the things we're going to miss . . . like the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont, Futurity, Oaks, Hopeful, Saratoga Gold Cup and the Experimental Handicap . . .

That last one reminds us that the Jockey Club issued its regular racing calendar . . . just as if everything were hotsy-totsy with us two-back bettors . . . and in it we find the weights for the Experimental . . . usually run at the Jamaica spring meeting.

There is only one man in the country whose opinion about a horse carries any weight . . . and that's the man who assigns the weights . . . John B. Campbell . . . official handicapper for the Jockey Club . . .

Smart eggs have lost fortunes backing their judgments against Campbell's . . . but wise hombres always gave his experimental weights a close gander for a hint on the Derby . . .

The Experimental reveals his opinion of the class of last year's crop of two year olds . . . 129 of which he thought worthy of mention . . . ranging from unbeaten Pavot and Free For All . . . each assigned 126 pounds . . . down to Ace Skipper, Catbridge and Chaste Lady . . . all in at 104 . . .

Campbell makes Col. C. V. Whitney's Burg-El-Arab his third best horse . . . by assigning him 123 pounds . . . three more than Bobawet, Esteem, Pot o' Luck and Fighting Don . . .

E. R. Bradley's Busher he rates the top filly by assigning her 119 pounds . . . the colts Air Sailor, Flodotown and Polyneesian . . . This will jar the judgment of those experts who had been picking one of the following as probable winner of the Derby . . . Alexis, Erard, Good Blood, Hail Victory, Ricks Rait, the Doge and War Jeep . . . all in at 118 . . . or Best Effort and Price Level . . . each in at 117 . . .

We were going to have a few meigs riding on esteem . . . but it may all be for the best . . . anyhow, we won't have 20,000 races this year . . . the thoroughbred record assures us we had 19,228 last year . . . and that total purses amounted to $29,184,500 . . . and that $7,984,934 was given to charity . . .

Those figures don't mean much to us . . . because we're lost any time we get beyond a dollar six bits . . . but we like to dream about winning $601,660 . . . which is what Warren Wright's Calumet stable won last season . . . and that of course made his trainer . . . Den Jones . . . the leader in his line . . .

However Hirsch Jacobs trained the most winners . . . 117 . . . which won $306,621 . . . Pavot's eight winning races were worth $179,040 to Walter M. Jeffords . . . and Chance Play was the winning sire . . . getting $430,488 . . .

We're getting a little groggy totting all that dough around . . . but here's some more . . . Ted Atkinson piloted most winners . . . 287 . . . which dragged down $899,101 . . . and now you know why Ted is not worrying about his enforced vacation . . . Georgie Wolf rode most stake winners . . . nine . . . and the longest priced horse of the year . . . which he did not have . . . was Tyro Lad at 140 to 1 . . . let's repeat those juicy odds . . . 140 to 1 . . .

Twilight Tear and Sir Bim . . . at 1 to 10 . . . were the shortest priced nags . . . and the Tear was beaten at those figures . . . woe is me, woe is me . . .

aggregate of 445 firemen responded to the 25 calls and the apparatus was in actual service a total of 63 hours. The firemen spent a total of 1134 man-hours in actual service.

Perkasie firemen answered two calls during December: a grass fire at the High Bridge in East Rockhill township and at the Stover storage house on north Seventh street, Perkasie.

Willard Worthington and Fred Enters were elected as active members of the company on Thursday night. The company lost three members by death during the year. They were: Nathan Beer, Warren Hartzell and William T. Groff.

President Bhtzer re-appointed the ambulance committee to serve during 1945. The chairman of this committee reported that the ambulance had received fourteen calls during December.

An interesting part of the business session was the reading, by the secretary, of ten letters received from members of the company who are now in the armed forces. The letters came from every section of the vast war theatre.

Storm Approaching Proportions of Blizzard

The fleet storm hit Eastern Pennsylvania shortly after midnight, leaving an icy glaze over yesterday's light snow. At dawn, it turned into a thick, heavy snow, and the U. S. Weather Bureau at Philadelphia promised at least six inches before nightfall. Temperatures, however, were not unseasonal.

In western Pennsylvania, where highway traffic was badly disrupted, in additional four inches of sticky snow brought the total fall in the past six weeks to 65 to 90 inches.

Hundreds of nervous Philadelphians, fearful of a predicted blizzard, flooded the Electrical Bureau with reports of "mysterious blue flashes" in the skies. The flashes turned out to be sparks caused by ice cutters on overhead trolley wires, as the Philadelphia Transportation Company sought to bring some sort of order to its disrupted schedule.

State police reported safe highway speeds at a maximum of 20 miles per hour—and in some rural western Pennsylvania roads, travel was virtually impossible.

Philadelphia city policemen successfully convoyed seven expectant mothers through the slippery slush to hospitals.

Guest Speaker Deals With "Americanism" urged to attend church and Sunday School.

Mrs. Harry Friedhof presided at the meeting, she informing of plans for publication at intervals of a small newspaper by the Soby Post. This will contain news of the post, Auxiliary and drum and bugle corps.

The secretary, Mrs. Gilbert Bonnell, read a number of letters from service men and women acknowledging Christmas gifts from the Auxiliary. The letters were from points in Italy, France, Newfoundland, New Caledonia, Bermuda, and camps in the United States. Mrs. William Hart read letters from the "adopted" girl and boy at Scotland School.

The local auxiliary received credit for selling $5,675 in war bonds during the last drive. An urgent appeal was made to continue saving waste paper, tin, and fats for the war effort. New photograph records are also sought for servicemen.

In connection with the legislative committee, the chairman, Mrs. Lester Ransom, announced that a speaker will deal with the subject of universal military training at the February meeting. This will be an open forum. Named in charge of refreshments for that evening are: Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Fred Sheese, Mrs. Howard Ott and Mrs. Frank Cassidy.

Mrs. Ernest Robinson, chairman of the musical committee from the Auxiliary, named as her aides: Mrs. Bonnell, Mrs. Friedrich, Mrs. Ransom, Mrs. Warren Randall, and Mrs. James Tracy. The first meeting will be held on Tuesday, January 23rd.

Announcement was made of the national president's dinner in Philadelphia on April 9th.

Birthday greetings were extended to Mrs. Robert Leedom, Mrs. Heller and Mrs. Kiel. Refreshments of frankfurters, crullers, coffee and tea were served.

street was seriously damaged. It was the only fire in the borough that resulted in actual damages.

Perkasie firemen answered 25 calls during the year, eleven within the borough limits and 14 outside the borough. Thirteen of the calls came for grass and brush fires. An

HULMEVILLE

Mrs. James Tracy and children Eileen and Edward spent Friday and Saturday in Philadelphia at the home of Mrs. Tracy's brother, Omer McDermody.

Hulmeville—Middletown Parent-Teacher Association will meet tomorrow evening in the school house at eight o'clock. Following business, natural color slides will be shown, including scenes in the Canadian Rockies; the restored manor house at "Pennsbury"; also pictures of local people.
